

As custodian of the Cunningham Dax Collection, The Dax Centre is responsible for the many orphan works in the Collection. Orphan works are works which are, or are likely to be, protected by copyright and where it has been impossible to identify, locate or contact the copyright owner after a reasonable, good faith search by the user. Where possible, The Dax Centre has attempted to contact the copyright owners of works in the Collection. If you are the copyright owner of any works in the Collection or know who they are, please notify The Dax Centre at info@daxcentre.org